DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

1. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 23-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter. The claimed method is neither concrete nor tangible. An example of a concrete and tangible method is one comprising a computer/computer processor. The computer/computer processor must be within the body of the claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 6 and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Data showing a degree relative to the price is vague and ambiguous. A character control means of controlling an operation of a character who negotiates is vague and ambiguous.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

Art Unit: 3624

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

5. Claims 1-2, 11-12 and 23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by US Patent # 6704716.

The claimed method apparatus are fully taught by claim 1-45.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claims 1-24 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over 6704716.

Art Unit: 3624

The teachings of the reference are outlined above. It would have been obvious for one skilled in the art to have implemented the above apparatus for the purposes of securing a hotel room as motivated by needs of commerce. It would have been obvious for one skilled in the art to have included a handling fee setting fee means as motivated by the need to generate revenue. It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art the time to a have added a character to animate the placing of bids as motivated to need to improve the appearance of the graphical display. It would have been obvious for one skilled in the art at the time to have added a payment processing means and motivated by the need to complete the transaction. The examiner takes official notice that each of these elements were well known at the time preceding the effective filing date of this application.
